

NORTHERN ARIZONA
UNIVERSITY
The W. A. Franke College of Business

Center for American Indian
Economic Development

2008 TIPS - Tribal Implementation
Planning Summit

Sustainability for Self-Reliance:
Start-Up, Development & Implementation

July 29th* - July 31st, 2008

July 29th

*FREE Pre-Conference Workshop

Making Tourism Research Work for You: Using Research as a Tool to improve tribal tourism planning

July 30th

Topics Include:

Asset Inventory: User friendly framework for economic and demographic information to use key elements of data collection and the benefits of the final product

"Using It": Using resources to your advantage to improve the development process

Data-Driven Planning for Tourism Best Practices: Panel of tribal tourism professionals who have successfully collected and used data to reach their communities tourism goals

"Clean Tech" Indian Country and the Clean Energy Bill of 2005: A look at when, where, why and how this key new legislation will affect Indian Country for decades to come with strategies for tribes to consider

Watchable Wildlife, Eco, Nature, or Wildlife Tourism: What it is and will it work in Tribal Communities and understanding the natural areas and their quality of life while having sustainable economic base

Clean Tech: The New Eco-Economy: Developing the better place to live: How tribes can leverage their resources and take ownership roles in key technologies and research efforts in ways that directly benefit their members – from job creation to improved quality of reservation life to a cleaner, safer world

Procuring Contracts with the Federal and State Governments: Process of procuring government contracts from federal and state representatives

Smarth Growth: Provide information and address the importance of understanding how the Smart Growth effort impacts Arizona Tribes and their developments.

July 31st

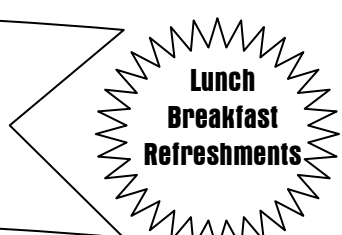

State and Tribal Liasons Working for You: Meet liaisons from various state agencies that work with tribal entities. Discuss resources, share grant information, and provide agency updates

University Outreach with Tribal Communities: Discussion on resources and programs at the University level geared towards tribal entities

It is time to make your economic vision a reality.

Registration $150
WAYS TO REGISTER:
800.442.8808
Gwen.cody@nau.edu
<http://www.franke.nau.edu/businessoutreach/caied/TIPS/>

Co-Sponsored by

ARIZONA DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

